ABOUT AYO

The Australian Youth Orchestra (AYO) presents tailored training and performance programs each year for aspiring musicians, composers, arts administrators and music journalists aged 12 to 30. Our training pathway has been created to nurture the musical development of Australia’s finest young instrumentalists across metropolitan and regional Australia: from the emerging, gifted school-aged student, to those on the verge of a professional career.

Graduates of our training programs have the opportunity to take part in Momentum Ensemble, a project designed to provide outstanding young performers on the cusp of their professional career with access to performance and development opportunities that will enable them to launch a multi-faceted career.

Within the community, AYO has committed itself to improving the quality of music education in classrooms around Australia. To meet this need, the National Music Teacher Mentoring Program (NMTMP) was launched in 2014 by distinguished music educator the late Richard Gill AO under the auspices of the AYO, and continues to support classroom teachers in building their skills and confidence in teaching music.

VISION & MISSION

OUR VISION
That all young Australians are empowered with musical knowledge, imagination and a love of music.

OUR MISSION
To provide professional leadership and inspiration to talented young Australian musicians, enabling them to expand and extend their classical music education training and experience, through national and international programs and performance of the highest standards.
It is encouraging to see the interest in orchestral music amongst young people and AYO’s programs in particular remain strong with over 1000 applications for auditions during 2018. No doubt the highly anticipated AYO International Tour planned for 2019 contributed to the significant competition for places in each program. Each of the programs presented in 2018 offered the chance for groups of talented individuals to come together under the direction of inspiring teachers and performers with the result being highly energised, brilliantly crafted, and moving demonstrations of orchestral teamwork. The AYO Training Pathway, commencing with AYO Young Symphonists and culminating in Momentum Ensemble, caters for more than 400 performers each year. In 2018 we returned to the Sydney Town Hall with a challenging concert program featuring the winner of the most recent Sydney International Piano Competition, Andrey Gugnin as soloist. Another highlight was seeing the further evolution of Momentum Ensemble in activities ranging from sharing the stage with Lior and his band in Sydney to a weekend of music making at UKARIA in the Adelaide Hills. A particular highlight for me personally was the awe-inspiring collaboration with the students of Peninsula Specialist College, which was the very best of musical achievement and endeavour.

AYO’s financial performance for 2018 shows a combination of pleasing operational performance and lower than expected investment returns. The operational performance was in line with expectations in delivering a small surplus. In common with most other not for profits with investment portfolios, AYO suffered from significant, but unrealised, losses in the last month of 2018 which had a negative impact on the bottom line and caused a loss to be recorded in the annual accounts. There is the expectation that the unrealised losses will reverse in the coming year.

The entire musical world felt the loss of Richard Gill AO in late 2018. Richard was a driving force behind so many artistic and educational success stories including the National Music Teacher Mentoring Program that is part of the AYO community. We have committed to continuing the development of the mentoring program Richard founded and support its growth to reach all Australian primary school students who do not have access to quality music education.

Both the AYO Training Pathway and the National Music Teacher Mentoring Program receive significant support from the Australian Government and we are immensely grateful for the Government’s recognition of their value. Complementing government support is the invaluable financial assistance of donors, sponsors and foundations. The assistance we receive from our donors, sponsors and foundations underpins the quality of our programs, extends their reach and enables talented young musicians to participate regardless of their financial circumstances.
In 2018 we celebrated a milestone in our partnership with our Principal Sponsor, Accenture, whose support over more than a decade has enabled AYO to provide more high quality music education opportunities for more young Australians. I would like to thank Accenture on behalf of the entire AYO Board and staff for their enduring partnership. Many thousands of young Australians have been assisted to reach their full personal and musical potential through this very generous support.

2018 was a year of change on the AYO Board with the retirement of three long serving directors, Erin Flaherty, Peter Grant, and Clare Pullar. On behalf of the entire organisation I thank them for their 27 years of combined service and look forward to many more years of their active involvement with AYO. We also welcomed Dr Andrew Lu OAM, Dr Kate Hadwen, Jessica Block and Sally Basser to the board.

Ben Rimmer
Chair
2018 provided the AYO community a chance to reflect on the inspired origins of the organisation as we marked 70 years since the first National Music Camp was presented by our inspired founders. The acknowledgment of the passion and commitment of those volunteers who created and managed to implement, sometimes at great odds, the experiences that are at the heart of the AYO’s purpose strengthens our values and inspires us to scale new heights.

On the stage of Elder Hall, University of Adelaide, fresh ideas from the minds of two innovative artists, harpist Marshall McGuire and clarinettist Ashley William Smith, were shared with over 235 young musicians, composers and arts administrators. Their commitment to excellence is paramount, but so is their passion for curiosity and exploration – whether this is in dealing with their own performance anxiety, career choices, or nurturing new work. Over two weeks, audiences in Adelaide were offered a wide range of musical choices in the series of free summer concerts. The support of the University of Adelaide and Elder Conservatorium of Music is invaluable and I am grateful to everyone involved in the preparation, planning and running of AYO National Music Camp on the university campus on North Terrace.

This is a great opportunity to congratulate every single participant in AYO’s programs throughout 2018. Composers, administrators, sound recordists, orchestral and chamber musicians, you have inspired each other and your teachers as you embarked on what can be a very intensive training experience. Taking the leap and the benefits that come with it takes courage and we thank you for embracing the challenge.

2018 also marked ten years of partnership with Accenture, AYO’s Principal Sponsor and Digital Partner. Accenture’s support has underpinned the growth in our training pathway over these ten years enabling more young Australians the opportunity to participate. The expertise and guidance provided by Accenture’s people has also been vital as we developed the technological capacity to connect with more young people no matter where they live. During these ten years our collaboration has led to the production of numerous high definition webcasts, interactive digital school music workshops linking multiple schools with the AYO from all parts of Australia, and the ability to hold remote online auditions in regional and rural areas. Most recently we have strengthened our communications and administrative capacity with the implementation of Salesforce in partnership with Accenture. Thank you to everyone at Accenture who has supported this partnership and helped us create more opportunities for young Australians to express and develop their creativity.
The youthful energy and enthusiasm so familiar to AYO audiences extended to the artistic collaborators on stage in our 2018 concert seasons in Sydney, Brisbane, Melbourne and Bendigo. Dutch conductor Antony Hermus and Australian pianist Andrea Lam worked with the Australian Youth Orchestra to create a memorable program of Ravel’s Piano Concerto and Mahler’s Symphony No.4, and the winner of the Sydney International Piano Competition Andrey Gugnin gave a spectacular reading of Tchaikovsky’s Piano Concerto No.1.

In a year that featured a number of acclaimed pianists, we also welcomed the former Artistic Director of the Australian Festival of Chamber Music, Piers Lane to direct the AYO Chamber Players program. Over a week in Adelaide 40 aspiring chamber musicians performed a huge range of interesting repertoire selected by Piers including the Australian premiere of the Piano Quartet in D minor by Jean Sibelius.

The bookends of the AYO Training Pathway are AYO Young Symphonists and Momentum Ensemble. In 2018 the AYO Young Symphonists returned to Queensland for an intensive orchestral and chamber music course directed by Roger Benedict, culminating in a thrilling display for a packed house at Toowoomba’s Empire Theatre.

The final concert of the year saw Momentum Ensemble with Lior and his band present an evening of Lior’s songs, arranged by some of Australia’s leading composers. Directed by Nigel Westlake, this was the second in what we hope will be many collaborations with these two artists. Momentum Ensemble finished the year with excellent outcomes for players and the community – from the achievements of the Artology Fanfare composers and the members of Peninsula Specialist College to the brilliance of Momentum under direction of Nicolas Altstaedt at the UKARIA 24 Festival.

AYO values its place as an important member of the ARTS8 group of national elite training organisations for young artists of all disciplines and once again in 2018 students and teachers from all institutions came together to inspire each other to create new works of expression. We also benefitted from shared knowledge and learning in the areas of cultural awareness and mental health.

Not a day goes past in my life without a thought or mention of Richard Gill, the inspirational musician, teacher, conductor who is responsible for drawing in thousands of people into the world of music making. Richard passed away in October 2018 after a typically courageous and strong willed battle with cancer. As the public response to Richard’s death showed, he was known, loved and respected by people from all walks of life, not just from the musical community. In my experience the name Richard Gill was one of the most powerful triggers for a healthy discussion about the value of music.
amongst non-musicians. On the day Richard passed away an ensemble of AYO musicians performed at the MPavilion in Melbourne’s Queen Victoria Gardens, paying tribute to Richard through words, and the performance of a work by one of Richard’s students, Andrew Howes.

My thanks to all the staff and volunteers who contributed to the successful year of training in 2018. Their commitment and professionalism continues to make a difference in the lives of the hundreds of young Australians participating in our programs each year. The members of the AYO board have provided great support and guidance and helped share the stories of AYO’s influence and impact to all corners of the country. I would like to acknowledge the invaluable advice and support offered me over ten years by retiring Deputy Chair Peter Grant as well as the ongoing leadership of our Chair Ben Rimmer.

Australian Youth Orchestra would like to acknowledge and extend our gratitude to the individuals who have supported Australia’s finest young instrumentalists in 2018. Your commitment to supporting young Australians and their passion for music has assisted the orchestra in continuing to inspire one generation of brilliant musicians to the next.

Gifts to AYO’s annual appeal, scholarships, international tour fund and the Richard Pollett Memorial Award, assist AYO in many ways by delivering its concert seasons, offsetting costs associated with program fees, and fostering music education across regional, remote and rural communities within Australia.

Following the three year trial the National Music Teacher Mentoring Program moved into its first year of formal operation in 2018. The Program’s aim are to build capacity of classroom teachers to teach music and its outcomes are aligned with and complement those in the Australian and state/territory curricula. No instruments are required as the program is vocally based with music literacy and creativity being at the core.

46 new schools and 82 teachers joined the program in 2018. Schools in Queensland participated for the first time joining schools in NSW, SA, WA, and Victoria already participating. With a goal of reaching more than 20,000 children by the end of 2022 the participation rates and feedback are very encouraging.

A survey that is part of the ongoing evaluation process alongside the research conducted by the University of Queensland released in 2018 found:

- 100% of teachers said their confidence had improved
- 100% of teachers said that student engagement in music education had improved
- 90% of teachers said that it had a positive flow-on impact on student engagement in other learning areas
- 94% of principals surveyed were either satisfied or extremely satisfied with the outcomes of mentoring at their schools.

90% of the teachers surveyed said that their increased competence and confidence in the teaching of music led not only to significantly improved student engagement in music learning but that there was a positive flow-on effect to other learning areas and to the overall tone in the class.

The following quotes from principals describe the outcomes for teachers and students involved in the program:

“Completely engages teachers in a very comfortable, practical and exciting way to be much more confident in teaching music and therefore promoting student engagement.”
"We have found music to be a powerful way to turn on kids brains so that they are more receptive to information. It has also shown positive impacts for student confidence and willingness to attempt verbal language especially amongst our non-English speaking students."

"...it offers professional learning that is real and meaningful because it’s actually in the classroom, it’s happening with the children, ... it’s part of their normal workload..."

All mentors attend a two day induction and training course. The course provided a good understanding of music education requirements and the concepts of mentoring. It also explores the human dynamics involved in being an effective mentor. Given the diversity of teaching methodologies, the program is non-prescriptive and relies on the expertise of mentors to apply the most suitable approach for individual teachers being mentored.

20 new mentors attended the training and induction at the mentor conference held at Santa Sabina College in Strathfield, Sydney on 17 and 18 May 2018. We also completed the production of eight resource videos to support mentors and teachers.

In addition to the numerous presentations made throughout Australia by the program’s founder, Richard Gill AO there is growing interest in the outcomes from teachers in other parts of the world. The program’s manager Bernadette McNamara presented at the Music in Schools Teacher Education Commission (MISTEC) conference in Prague in July 2018. This Commission preceded the 33rd ISME conference. This international presentation places the program at the highest international level and attracted widespread attention and interest, in particular from Finland, Ireland and New Zealand.

The financial support of the Australian Government and MMEM Pty Ltd ensures we can continue to pursue these valuable outcomes for all Australian school children. On behalf of all schools, teachers and students involved now and in the future we thank them for their commitment to quality music education.

Note 1  Summary of significant accounting policies

a. Basis of accounting

Australian Youth Orchestra has elected to early adopt the pronouncements AASB 1053: Application of Tiers of Australian Accounting Standards and AASB 2010–2: Amendments to Australian Accounting Standards arising from Reduced Disclosure Requirements to the annual reporting period beginning 1 January 2010.

This general purpose financial report has been prepared in accordance with Australian Accounting Interpretations, Australian Accounting Standards, other authoritative pronouncements of the Australian Accounting Standards Board, and the Corporations Act 2001.

The company’s Statement of Comprehensive Income, Balance Sheet and Statement of Changes in Equity have been prepared on an accrual basis and are in accordance with the historical cost convention. The Statement of Cash Flows has been prepared on a cash basis.

The financial report has been prepared based on a twelve month operating cycle and presented in Australian currency.

b. Changes in accounting policy

Accounting policies are consistent with those of the previous year.

c. Income tax

No provision for income tax is required as the company is exempt from income tax.

d. Revenue recognition

Revenue is measured at the fair value of the consideration received or receivable. Amounts disclosed are net of goods and services tax (GST). Revenue is recognised for the major business activities as follows:

(i) Contribution income

Contribution income represents the fair value of assets received in excess of the cost of the assets where there is a non reciprocal transfer and is recognised as income once the asset is controlled by the Company.

(ii) Funding revenue

Funding revenue is received from the Department of Communications and the Arts (formerly the Ministry for the Arts) and is based on payment schedules contained in a funding agreement between the funding bodies and the Company and is recognised in the calendar year for which it is intended under the terms of the agreement due to the conditional nature of the funding. Any funding not spent on the planned activities agreed between the parties at the start of each calendar year is required to be repaid.

(iii) Registration and Membership Fees

Registration and Membership Fees are recognised in the period for which the membership or registration is applicable.

(iv) Sponsorship and Donations revenue

Sponsorship – Sponsorship commitments are brought to account as income in the year in which sponsorship benefits are bestowed.

Donations - All donations are brought to account as received.

(v) Performance Fee Revenue

Revenue from performance fees is recognised as these services are performed.

(vi) Interest Income

Interest revenue is recognised as interest accrues using the effective interest method. This is a method of calculating the amortised cost of a financial asset and allocating the interest income over the relevant period using the effective interest rate, which is the rate that exactly discounts estimated future cash receipts through the expected life of the financial asset to the net carrying amount of the financial asset.

e. Receivables

All debtors are recognized at the amounts receivable, as they are due for settlement immediately in the case of trade debtors, and usually no more than 30 days from the date of recognition for other debtors.

Collectability of debtors is reviewed on an ongoing basis. Individual debts which are known to be uncollectible are written off. A provision for doubtful debts is raised when uncertainty exists as to the collection of the debt.

f. Plant and equipment

Each class of plant and equipment is carried at cost less, where applicable, any accumulated depreciation.
The carrying amount of plant and equipment is reviewed annually by directors to ensure it is not in excess of the recoverable amount from those assets. The recoverable amount is assessed on the basis of the expected net cash flows which will be received from the assets employment and subsequent disposal. The expected net cash flows have not been discounted to present values in determining the recoverable amount.

Depreciation

The depreciable amount of all fixed assets is depreciated on a straight line basis over their useful lives to the company commencing from the time the asset is held ready for use.

The depreciation rates used for each class of depreciable assets are:

- Musical Instruments: 7%
- Music and Scores: 7%
- Furniture and Fittings: 10%-20%
- Leasehold Improvements: 17%
- Office Equipment: 17%-25%
- Computers/Website: 33%
- Database: 14%

g. Leased plant and equipment

Leases of plant and equipment are classified as operating leases as the lessors retain substantially all of the risks and benefits of ownership. Payments made under operating leases (net of any incentives received from the lessor) are charged to the statement of comprehensive income on a straight-line basis over the period of the lease.

h. Trade and other creditors

These amounts represent liabilities for goods and services provided to the company prior to the end of the financial year and which were unpaid at balance date. The amounts are unsecured and are usually paid within 30 days of recognition.

i. Maintenance and repairs

The cost of repairs to the company’s plant and equipment are charged as expenses as incurred, except where they relate to the replacement of the component of an asset, in which case the costs are capitalised and depreciated in accordance with note 1(f).

j. Website and database costs

Costs in relation to web sites and databases controlled by the company are charged as expenses in the period in which they are incurred if they do not change the underlying nature or structure of the website or database. Costs incurred in building or enhancing a website or database, to the extent that they represent probable future economic benefits controlled by the company that can be reliably measured, are capitalised as an asset and amortised over the period of expected benefits, usually 3-7 years.

k. Goods and services tax (GST)

Revenues, expenses, and assets are recognized net of the amount of GST, except where the amount of GST incurred is not recoverable from the Australian Taxation Office. In these circumstances the GST is recognized as part of the cost of acquisition of the asset or as part of an item of the expense. Receivables and payables in the Statement of Financial Position are shown inclusive of GST. The net amount of GST recoverable from, or payable to, the ATO is included as a current asset or liability in the Statement of Financial Position. Cash flows are included in the statement of cash flows on a gross basis. The GST components of cash flows arising from investing and financing activities which are recoverable from, or payable to, the ATO are classified as operating cash flows.

l. Employee benefits

(i) Wages, salaries and annual leave

Liabilities for employee benefits for wages, salaries and annual leave expected to be settled within 12 months of the reporting date represent present obligations resulting from employees’ services provided up to the reporting date. These are calculated at undiscounted amounts based on compensation rates that the consolidated entity expects to pay, including related on-costs.

(ii) Long service benefits

The provision for employee benefits for long service leave represents the present value of the estimated future cash outflows to be made, resulting from employees’ services provided up to the reporting date. The provision is calculated using expected future increases in wage and salary rates including related on costs and expected settlement dates based on turnover history and is discounted using the rates attaching to Commonwealth government bonds at balance date which most closely match the terms of maturity of the related liabilities.

(iii) Superannuation

The Company contributes to employees’ superannuation funds. Contributions are recognised as an expense as they are made.

m. Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents includes cash on hand, deposits held at call with financial institutions, other short-term, highly liquid investments with original maturities of three months or less that are readily convertible to known amounts of cash which are subject to an insignificant risk of changes in value. For the purposes of the Cash Flow Statement, cash and cash equivalents consist of cash and cash equivalents as defined above.

n. Comparative figures
Where required by the Accounting Standards comparative figures have been adjusted to conform to changes in presentation for the current financial year.

o. Significant accounting judgements, estimates and assumptions
The preparation of the financial statements requires management to make judgements, estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts in the financial statements. Management continually evaluates its judgements and estimates in relation to assets, liabilities, contingent liabilities, revenue and expenses. The following critical accounting policies have been identified for which significant judgements, estimates and assumptions are made.

(i) Impairment of Non-financial Assets
The Company assesses impairment of its non-financial assets at each reporting date by evaluating conditions specific to the Company and to the specific asset. If an impairment trigger exists the recoverable amount of the asset is determined. Management do not consider that the triggers for impairment have been significant and these assets have not been tested for impairment in this financial period.

(ii) Estimate of Useful Lives
The estimation of useful lives of assets is based on historical experience. The condition of assets is assessed periodically and considered in relation to the remaining useful life of the asset and adjustments made to useful lives as appropriate.

INDEPENDENT AUDIT REPORT TO THE MEMBERS OF
AUSTRALIAN YOUTH ORCHESTRA
ABN 42 004 355 739

Opinion

We have audited the financial report of Australian Youth Orchestra, which comprises the statement of financial position as at 31 December 2018, the statement of comprehensive income, statement of changes in equity and statement of cash flows for the year then ended, and notes to the financial statements, including a summary of significant accounting policies, and the director’s declaration.

In our opinion the financial report of Australian Youth Orchestra has been prepared in accordance with Division 60 of the Australian Charities and Not-for-profits Commission Act 2012, including:

a) giving a true and fair view of the registered entity’s financial position as at 31 December 2018 and of its financial performance for the year then ended; and

b) complying with Australian Accounting Standards and Division 60 of the Australian Charities and Not-for-profits Commission Regulation 2013.

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with Australian Auditing Standards. Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor’s Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Report section of our report. We are independent of the registered entity in accordance with the ethical requirements of the Accounting Professional and Ethical Standards Board’s APES 110 Code of Ethics for Professional Accountants (the Code) that are relevant to our audit of the financial report in Australia. We have also fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with the Code.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Other Information than the Financial Report and Auditor’s Report Thereon

The directors are responsible for the other information. The other information comprises the information included in the company annual report for the year ended 31 December 2018, but does not include the financial report and our auditor’s report thereon. Our opinion on the financial report does not cover the other information and accordingly we do not express any form of assurance conclusion thereon. In connection with our audit of the financial report, our responsibility is to read the other information and, in doing so, consider whether the other information is materially inconsistent with the financial report or our knowledge obtained in the audit or otherwise appears to be materially misstated. If, based on the work we have performed, we conclude that there is a material misstatement of this other information, we are required to report that fact. We have nothing to report in this regard.

Responsibilities of the Directors for the Financial Report

The directors of the company are responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the financial report in accordance with Australian Accounting Standards and the Australian Charities and Not-for-profits Commission Act 2012 and for such internal control as the responsible entities determine is necessary to enable the preparation of the financial report that is free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.
In preparing the financial report, directors are responsible for assessing the registered entity’s ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless the responsible entities either intends to liquidate the registered entity or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

The directors are responsible for overseeing the company’s financial reporting process.

Auditor’s Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Report

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial report as a whole is free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor’s report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with Australian Auditing Standards will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of the financial report.

As part of an audit in accordance with the Australian Auditing Standards, we exercise professional judgement and maintain professional scepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial report, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.

- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the registered entity’s internal control.

- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by the directors.

- Conclude on the appropriateness of the directors’ use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the registered entity’s ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor’s report to the related disclosures in the financial report or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor’s report. However, future events or conditions may cause the registered entity to cease to continue as a going concern.

- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the financial report, including the disclosures, and whether the financial report represents the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.

We communicate with the responsible entities regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.
